Proclamation

To the Citizens of Dixon:

In commemoration of the cessation of hostilities in the great World War, and with thanksgiving that our nation is enjoying the blessings of peace, and with respect to the boys who gave their lives in that great conflict, and to those who were fortunate enough to return to their homes, let us pause in our daily routine on November 11th, Armistice Day, at 11 o'clock, for one minute, and with faces turned to the east, give honor to the departed and respect to the living. I would respectfully request that all the bells of the city be rung at this time, and that the whistles of our factories be blown to call the attention of our citizens to that great event in the history of the world. Let us hand down to our children a reverence for occasions of such solemn character.

Very respectfully yours,
Frank D. Palmer,
Mayor.

Tuesday, being a legal holiday in Illinois, in commemoration of the signing of the Armistice which terminated the World War, will be observed as a partial holiday in this city, and in addition a patriotic program in celebration of that happy event will be given at the G. A. R. hall by the Auxiliary of the American Legion at 10:30 o'clock in the morning. This program will end at 11 o'clock, and all of the patriotic societies of the city have been invited to participate.

The banks will be closed all day and the grocery stores, meat markets, clothing stores, dry goods stores, etc., will close at noon for the rest of the day. It is announced by the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Telegraph will go to press early Tuesday in co-operation with the other business interests of the city.

As far as is known the only sports event of the day will be a football game at the D. H. S. Athletic field on the north side at 2:30 o'clock, between the Dixon Dodgers and Geneseo.

To Dedicate Monument

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 8.—Observance of Armistice Day in Chicago will start tomorrow when James A. DRAIN, national commander of the American Legion, will participate in the dedication at 2:30 p. m. of the Soldiers and Sailors monument on the west side.

The memorial is being erected at the corner of Washington Boulevard and Laramie Ave., under the auspices of the Soldiers & Sailors Memorial Committee of the west side, and James G. Brophy, post of the American Legion.

National Commander DRAIN will have a guard of honor composed of 25 medall men and a personal escort composed of Major General Milton J. Foreman, Brig. General Abel Davis, Colonel Charles W. Schick, former Illinois commander of the Legion and Captain E. A. Evers of the naval reserve. In the evening the medal men will be hosts to Commander DRAIN at a dinner.

Department Commander H. P. Savage of Illinois is in charge of the dedication arrangements.

Coupe Stolen in Dixon

Discovered in Rockford

In the recent discovery of stolen Ford cars in Rockford in which officers found engine numbers changed, one was found which was stolen from Dixon, according to a report received by Chief Van Bibber. A Ford coupe belonging to Orville M. Kimball of Sterling, which was stolen from near the corner of Second street and Ottawa avenue on the evening of July 11, is said to be one of the cars that has been recovered and is being held by Sheriff Ross Atkinson at Rockford.

Utah Man Suggested to

Be Sec. of Agriculture

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 8.—The name of Frank Evans of Salt Lake City was presented to President Coolidge today by Senator Smoot for consideration as Secretary of Agriculture. Mr. Evans is a member of the National Executive Committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation and chief counsel of the Utah State Farm Bureau.

Had to Rebuild Car to Ship Big Turbine Here
for New I. N. U. Plant

The first of the big turbine casings which is but one of a set of five which will be installed in the new hydro plant at the foot of Ottawa avenue, was received yesterday afternoon from the Cramp Ship Building Yards. The casing is of such immense size as to make it necessary to rebuild a car for its transportation to Dixon, and it being routed over certain lines.

The steel casing is 17 feet and four inches above the rails, necessitating special routing through the east on lines passing through tunnels. The floor of a heavy steel car had to be removed and special construction installed for its transportation.

ARGUMENTS IN OIL CASES ON
NEXT THURSDAYDoherty Offers to Complete
Pearl Harbor
Work, Anyway.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Los Angeles, Calif., Nov. 8.—Arguments in the trial of the government's Elk Hills lease cancellation suit will probably begin next Thursday, counsel for the defendant Pan-American Petroleum & Transport Co., having rested their case yesterday shortly before adjournment until 10 a. m., Wednesday.

On Wednesday government counsel plans to examine briefly a few rebuttal witnesses after which various stipulations will be entered by attorneys for both parties preparatory to the opening of arguments.

In closing the defense yesterday, Frank J. Hogan, chief counsel for the oil company, introduced a statement from Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to the effect that he was not at liberty to furnish the court certain confidential papers bearing on the contested leases and contracts and which were subpoenaed by the defense. He also presented a letter written by E. L. Doherty, head of the Pan-American interests, to President Coolidge promising to complete the Pearl Harbor storage project involved in the litigation, irrespective of possible loss through an adverse decision in the case.

BOBCATS PLAN OF
PARTIES' LEADERSLaFollette and Wheeler
May Be Deprived of Committeeships.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 8.—While there will be a general shakeup in the personnel of house and senate committees as a result of Tuesday's election, fewer than a dozen changes of importance in chairmen will be necessary. At least three vacancies caused by death, however, will have to be filled before the expiration of the present congress.

Death of Senators Colt of Rhode Island and Brandegee of Connecticut, leave the chairmanships of the Immigration and Judiciary committees vacant, while in the house the merchant marine committee is without a chairman due to the death of Representative Greene of Massachusetts.

Senator Sterling of South Dakota is ranking republican on the senate immigration committee but he will not be in the senate after March 4. Senator Johnson of California will then be in line for chairman. Senator Borah of Idaho is the ranking republican member of the judiciary committee while on the house merchant marine committee, Representative Edmonds of Pennsylvania was not a candidate for re-election, is in line for chairman during the December session with Representative Scott of Michigan next on the committee's republican roster.

SMOKE MAY GET COM.

Senator Bureau of New Mexico who has been defeated for re-election on the face of incomplete returns is chairman of the senate pensions committee on which Reed Smoot of Utah is the ranking republican while Senator Moses of New Hampshire will be in line for chairman of the post office committee at the expiration of Senator Sterling's term.

After March 4, Senator Cummins will be relieved of the duties of senate presiding officer and will be in a position to resume chairmanship of the interstate commerce committee, if the republican majority sees fit to displace Senator Smith, democrat of South Carolina who has been serving in that capacity.

In the house, Representative Keller of Minnesota, a LaFollette supporter, is in line for the claims committee chairmanship now held by Mr. Edmonds while new heads of the house education, Indian affairs, commerce and insular affairs committee will be needed.

May Eliminate Bobcats

Representative Reed of New York is ranking republican on the education committee, Johnson of South Dakota on the Indian affairs committee and Fuller of Illinois on the insular affairs committee. Representative Parker of New York is in line to succeed Representative Winslow of Massachusetts, who did not seek re-election, as head of the commerce committee. There is considerable speculation here as to whether an effort will be made by the republicans to read Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin and his followers in the senate and house, out of the party, depriving them of their committee assignments and of the privilege of attending party conferences.

Several senators, among them Smoot, have declared in favor of such action, while privately some of the democratic leaders in the senate have advocated disciplinary action against Senator Wheeler of Montana, vice presidential candidate on the LaFollette independent ticket.

Senator LaFollette is chairman of the senate manufactures committee and is lifted as ranking republican on the finance and interstate commerce committees. Senators Brookhart of Iowa and Frazier of North Dakota, who usually have lined up with the Wisconsin senator on political issues have committee assignments but are chairmen of none, while Ladd of North Dakota, another senator identified with the LaFollette bloc, is chairman of the public lands committee. Shipstead, farmer labor senator from Minnesota, is a member of the committees and Norris of Nebraska, who has repeatedly differed with the republican organization, is the agriculture committee chairman.

In the house, the LaFollette insurgents, all of whom have been re-elected, have committee assignments as republicans, some of them serving as chairmen.

FULL MILITARY HONORS GIVEN
GENERAL HAANLaid to Rest in Arlington
Cemetery; Army
and Navy There.

Military rites were accorded the late Major General William G. Haan, one of the out-standing "fighting generals" of the world war and former military instructor at Dixon College, at Washington, D. C. Services for Gen. Haan, who died at Mount Alto Hospital, following illness with cancer, were held in St. Paul's Episcopal church, Washington, followed by military services at the burial in Arlington National Cemetery. High officers of the Army and Navy attended the services.

Born in Indiana, Oct. 4, 1863, Gen. Haan was graduated from West Point in June 1889, and from the Army War College in 1904. He had spent thirty years in the service at the time of his retirement in March 1922. He had seen service in the Philippine insurrection and the Spanish American war and was a member of the general staff from 1903 to 1906 and 1912 to 1914.

During the World War he commanded the Thirty-second division in France, which distinguished itself in several major engagements. He was awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, and was cited by the French and Belgian governments for his service in France. At the beginning of the World War he had been placed in command of the east coast defenses later being assigned to the division. Previously he had served for several years in Cuba.

Capt. Lowell Smith was Honored by Chicago City

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Nov. 8.—Capt. Lowell Smith, who commanded the flight around the world and piloted the flagship "Enterprise," and Lieut. Leslie A. Arvid, who was his mechanic, came back to Chicago today to be the guests of the Army and Navy club and to receive thanks of the city of Chicago through Mayor Dever. They will remain here until after Armistice Day celebrations, returning to Scott Field, Belleville, Ill., to fly the "Chicago" eastward after being joined by Lieut. Erik Nelson and John Harding now en route to Houston.

The guests will be given a reception at 5 p. m., tomorrow afternoon at the Army and Navy club to be followed at 8 p. m. by a public gathering in the Auditorium Theater where Mayor Dever will thank the fliers on behalf of the city and they will be presented with an expensive automobile. Open stars and theatrical talent will provide a program of entertainment and official motion pictures of the world flight will be shown.

Mrs. Harding Suffered
Relapse During Night

"Larry" Has a Cast a Ballot in Fourteen
General Elections

"Larry" McDonald of this city is the claimant to the distinction of having on last Tuesday cast his vote in fourteen consecutive presidential elections. His first vote was cast Nov. 4, 1860, when he voted for Stephen A. Douglas, democratic opponent to Abraham Lincoln. He continued to vote for democratic presidential candidates until 1884 when Grover Cleveland was the party's candidate. He then switched to the republican party and has since that time been a staunch supporter of republican principals and candidates.

FATHER FINDS SON'S BODY IN
POOL OF BLOODYouth Shot Climbing
Through Fence;
Died Alone.

Shot through the right arm when his hunting rifle was accidentally discharged while he was climbing through a fence on a neighboring farm Thursday morning, 16-year-old John Howe, son of a Lyons, Wis., farmer, bled to death after lying helpless for hours in the pasture.

Young Howe's body was discovered at 1 o'clock Thursday afternoon by his father, Will Howe, who had gone out to look for the boy.

Intended to Shoot Crows.

Thursday morning the youth started out to watch the crows in the pasture on his father's farm, and took his rifle along to shoot at crows. He was not seen again alive.

When Will Howe reached the meadow where the dairy herd was grazing, he saw his son's body, crumpled up, lying in a pool of blood, near the fence.

Trigger Catches on Barb.
Hanging in the barbwire was the rifle. The trigger had caught on a barb and was discharged, the bullet plunging through young Howe's arm near the shoulder. The boy had been dead for several hours before his body was found.

Sheriff Hal Wylie, of Elkhorn, was immediately notified but after visiting the scene of the tragedy, decided no inquest was necessary.

Dr. Butte had 181,438, Mrs. Ferguson 230,962.

NEAR RIOT WHEN FATHER ATTEMPTS
TO SECURE CHILDOfficers Called When Heckman Took His Son This Morn.

Police and deputies from the sheriff's office responded to a call to quell a miniature riot on Second street and Galena avenue at 10 o'clock this morning when Louis Heckman recovered possession of his 20 months old son, Robert L. Heckman, taking it from his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, Sreemore, Mrs. Clark and calls for police brought the officers to the scene where a large crowd had congregated to witness the battle for possession of the child.

Louis Heckman, father of the child, yesterday secured a writ of habeas corpus before Judge Henry Edwards in the circuit court, in which the grandparents were ordered to have the child in court this morning at 9 o'clock. The writ was obeyed inasmuch as the grandparents were concerned and the case was continued until next Friday when a final hearing was to be held.

The grandparents, it was understood were to have possession of the boy until the time of the hearing and they had left the court house and were down Galena avenue, when the father of the child, his wife and other parties drove up in an automobile. Heckman, it was said, grabbed the child and succeeded in placing it in his automobile, despite the struggles of the grandparents to retain custody of the little fellow.

Father Made Second Attempt.

When the officers arrived they took the parties to the police station to await the arrival of Heckman's attorney, Mark C. Keller, and have a final understanding. In the police station, Mr. Heckman is said to have renewed his efforts to gain custody of the child and the officers again intervened and subdued him. The crowd gathered about the city hall, eager to learn the outcome.

The state's attorney on his arrival at the city hall, told his client that the order of the court in the habeas corpus action left the child in the custody of Mr. and Mrs. Clark until the date when the case was to be disposed of next Friday. Mr. Heckman turned his son back to the grandparents and the case was temporarily disposed of.

Program of Rural Church
Discussed in Conference

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Columbus, O., Nov. 8.—The program of the rural church was discussed by the student section of the seventh national conference of the Country Life Association here today.

The conference which opened with a meeting at Ohio State University last night is to continue through Tuesday. Professor A. Z. Mann of St. Paul, discussed selection and training for leadership in rural districts while Miss Marie Carothers of Plymouth, Ind., spoke on recreation features. Professor Lively of Ohio State University, outlined the problems of the rural church and discussed the advantages of co-operating with other agencies.

The conference proper is scheduled to open at 8 o'clock tonight when Dr. K. L. Butterfield, president of the Michigan Agricultural College and also president of the association, delivers his annual address.

Many Dubuque Fans to Accompany Team Here

An auto caravan carrying football fans from Dubuque, Iowa, is expected to arrive in Dixon tomorrow about noon, accompanying the Dubuque Bears to this city for their first game with the Dixon Legion. The Iowans have a very strong following and many Iowa cars will be here tomorrow for the game.

No change will be made in the Legion lineup, it was announced today. Dee is said to have a strong and heavy opponent at the center position, but local fans are assured that he will give a good account of himself as he has done thus far during the season. Downs will again perform in the backfield and both Schofield and Cokwright will also be given chances. Hess may be able to participate in a part of the contest, but is still nursing his bad foot, trying to get it in shape for the game a week from Sunday with the Clinton Legion.

ALLEGED BANK
ROBBER TAKEN
AT BROOKPORTIdentified as One Who Robbed Brownfield,
Ill., Bank.

Metropolis, Ill., Nov. 8.—Acting upon information received from an unrevealed source, officers of Pope county late last night went to Brookport, near here, where they arrested a man named Robert Caldwell, alias Colwell, or Caldwell, who is said to have been identified as one of the two men who held up and robbed the State Bank of Brownfield, Ill., October 22, and escaped with $12,000.

Caldwell was arrested when he stepped from a ferry boat which arrived from Paducah, Ky., and brought here. He is said to have been heavily armed when taken into custody.

Caldwell, officers said, was identified by Cashier J. W. Crawford, of the Brownfield bank, as one of the men who locked him in the vault and stole what money there was in the cashier's desk, while others are said to have identified him as having been one of the two strangers seen to enter the bank. Caldwell refuses to make a statement.

Officers intimated that with the arrest of Caldwell, they had frustrated plans for another bank robbery in this section, and they expect to arrest three others who are said to have been operating with him.

President Goes Ahead
With Post-Election Work

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 8.—President Coolidge went forward today with his post-election plans the first of which was set in operation yesterday with the appointment of the committee to investigate agricultural conditions.

A conference of the commission comprising eight representatives of farming interests drawn from practically all sections of the country, is expected to be called for the middle of this month. Robert D. Carey of Careyhurst, Wyo., a former governor of that state, is chairman and the membership, it was indicated, may be increased.

With the appointment of this voluntary body, President Coolidge carried out one of the few of the nomination of the party as standard bearer. He hopes to have its legislative recommendations before him in time for action at the coming short session of congress. This and appropriation bills are now the only measures which he feels will require the attention of the expiring congress.

Choice of Republican
Gov. in Mo. Assured

By Associated Press Leased Wire
St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 8.—The election of Sam Baker as governor today appeared a certainty as shown by unofficial returns tabulated up to a late hour last night, giving him a lead of 10,092 over Dr. A. W. Nelson, democrat, with all but 51 of the state's 4,939 precincts heard from. That President Coolidge had carried the state by approximately 70,000 votes also appeared certain on the fact of late returns.

The outcome of the voting on the candidates for the state house of representatives still remain in doubt on the face of last night's returns. However, it appeared likely that the republicans had taken a majority of the seats. Only in the congressional and state senatorial districts did the democrats get a majority.

Red Cross Sunday Will Be Observed Throughout U. S.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, Nov. 8.—Preparedness for emergency will be the keynote of the observance tomorrow of Red Cross Sunday.

Clergymen throughout the country, it was announced today, will stress the peace time work of the society and call upon their congregations to enroll in its membership during the period beginning Armistice Day.

Completion of preparation for widespread participation tomorrow in the "mobilization for international justice and peace" were announced today by the Commission on International Justice and Good Will of the Federal Council of Churches. A score of state governors, it was said, have recommended observance of the day and special exercises have been arranged in numerous churches.

INDUSTRIALS AND RAILS IN FINE ADVANCENew High Prices for Year Reached in Day's Trades

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 8.—(By the Associated Press)—Speculative enthusiasm in the securities and commodities markets was fanned to fever pitch today in a post-election boom of unprecedented proportions.

Hulls led a sensational advance in stock prices, 67 issues breaking through to new high levels for the year on total sales that exceeded 3,400,000 shares, the largest half-day session in stock exchange history. Railroad loans led a break advance in the bond market with total sales reaching nearly $13,700,000 also a new high record for a two hour session.

Foreign exchanges mounted higher under the leadership of sterling which crossed $4.60 to its highest price in more than a year.

Publication of the government report estimating the cotton crop at 12,816,000 bales brought about a flurry of selling in cotton futures but this was followed by a sharp rally leaving closing prices 40 to 50 points higher. Coffee futures spurted 35 to 90 points at the opening but heavy Brazilian selling cut down the gains. Final quotations showing net gains of 15 to 30 points.

Buoyancy of stocks revived speculative enthusiasm in the grain markets, trading positions in Chicago wheat futures closing 15-8 to 17-4 cent a bushel higher. Corn prices rallied 11-2 to nearly 20 despite more favorable weather reports.

New York, Nov. 8.—An avalanche of buying orders from all sections of the country ushered in today's stock market, sending more than 20 issues to new peak prices for the year in the first 15 minutes of trading on total transactions approximating 150,000 shares. Rails led the advance but spirited bidding also took place for the standard industrials shares.

This remarkable outburst of strength was a continuation of yesterday's excited buying when total sales exceeded the two million share mark for the first time in two and a half years. Among the many stocks to break through their previous high prices were New York Central, Southern Pacific, Chicago, Northwestern, Southern Railway, U. S. Steel Common, U. S. Cast Iron Pipe and United Drug, the overnight gains ranging from 1 to 2 1/2 points. Individual sales of 1,000 to 5,000 shares were quite common with a few as high as 8,000.

Heavy buying of sterling early today pushed the demand rate 15c to a new peak price for the year at 4.59c, the highest level reached since July, 1923. Factors contributing to the upward swing in European currencies which also embraced Swedish, Norwegian, Dutch and Spanish exchange rates, were said to be the return of British capital to London and the anticipated remittance of the proceeds of various American loans to Europe.

Death of Plaintiff in Court Terminates Case

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Mitchell, Ont., Nov. 8.—A case in division court was interrupted yesterday by a solemn religious service performed in the court room when the plaintiff collapsed in the witness box. While court attendants went to the aid of the stricken man his friends went for a priest. Seeing that his condition was critical Judge Barron suggested that meanwhile someone else might recite the prayer for the dying. The defendant, H. L. Kenny, and his family came forward and performed that service. The priest arrived after the plaintiff, John Walsh, died.

WHAT DO WE PLANT?
What do we plant when we plant the tree?
We plant the ship, which will cross the sea.
We plant the mast to carry the sails;
We plant the planks to withstand the gales—
The keel, the keelson, the beam, the knee.
We plant the ship when we plant the tree.

We plant the house when we plant the tree.
We plant the houses for you and me.
We plant the rafters, the shingles, the floors.
We plant the studding, the lath, the doors.
The beams, and siding, all parts that be;
What do we plant when we plant the tree?

What do we plant when we plant the tree?
A thousand things that we daily see;
We plant the spirit that out-towers the crag,
We plant the staff for our country's flag.
We plant the shade, from the hot sun free,
We plant all these when we plant the tree.
—Henry Abbey.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—

To Separate Stamps.

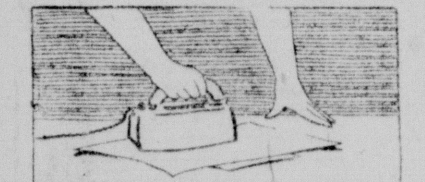

To separate stamps that have stuck together, lay a thin piece of paper over them and run a hot iron along it. They will come apart easily and the glue will remain on them.

For Health.

Try to include one leafy vegetable such as celery, spinach, cabbage or lettuce in your diet each day. It is invaluable for the health and complexion.

C. & N. W. Agent at Nelson Takes a Bride

Florence Mary Shafer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Shafer, of Rochelle, formerly of Rochelle, was married Saturday morning, Nov. 1st, at 11 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, Rev. Paul Bourke officiating.

Only intimate friends and relatives of the bride and bridegroom were present. They were attended by Raymond Shafer and Miss Alice Bergonz, of Chicago.

After the ceremony a three-course dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. The newly-weds left on the noon train for Denver, Colo., to be gone two weeks.

Upon their return they will be at their new home in Nelson, Ill., where the groom is employed as agent for the C. & N. W. railway. Many friends extend best wishes for their happiness.

"MUM" SHOW IS BEAUTIFUL—

WORTH SEEING

The "mum" show at the Fallstrom Flower shop is worth seeing. Hugo, gorgeous yellow, and white mums, the dainty new anemone mums, the always popular pom pom mums, and the shaggy graceful blossoms in other shades of yellow, lavender and pink. While it is called a mum show, there are on exhibition the most beautiful displays of roses, the flower which Mr. Fallstrom exploits in particular, and which he says "cannot be beat." Galli Curci, the new yellow rose, the Barnett, My Lady Rose, American Beauty, etc. A basket of magenta colored sweet peas has a center of lilies of the valley—nothing could be daintier—and the one of yellow roses and lavender sweet peas—all are worth seeing—and a spray of the expensive orchids.

The members of the Practical club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. A. F. Moore of Peoria avenue.

STJERNON CLUB

WILL MEET—

The Stjerner club will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. John Krug, 622 Peoria avenue.

Menus for a Family

Tested by SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Grapes, cornmeal mush and milk, broiled bacon, potato cakes, toasted bran muffins, apple butter, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Cauliflower loaf, rye bread sandwiches with cottage cheese and currant jelly filling, celery salad, nut cream, chocolate cake, milk, tea.

Dinner—Cream of lima bean soup, toasted crackers, veal birds, scalloped potatoes, stewed tomatoes, date and nut salad, pumpkin pie, milk, coffee, whole wheat rolls.

This luncheon menu is suggested for guests as well as junior members in a family. Every woman likes to "ask somebody in" for luncheon occasionally, but it sometimes seems impossible to serve two meals, one for the children and a "party" one, too. If you want to elaborate this menu, consommé could be served first with toasted crackers and radishes and olives served with the sandwiches.

Children under school age will not eat the veal birds for dinner.

Cauliflower Loaf.

One medium sized head cauliflower, 1 1/2 cups fine soft bread-crumbs, one cup thin cream, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 3 eggs.

Let cauliflower stand in cold water, head down, for one hour. Break into flowerettes and cook, head up, in slightly salted boiling water for half an hour. Press through a puree-strainer. Combine milk, breadcrumbs, salt and pepper and cook, stirring constantly until thick and smooth. Slowly beat in the cauliflower; there should be two cups, and when well blended add the yolks of the eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Fold in the whites of the eggs beaten until stiff and dry and turn into a mold lined with waxed paper. Butter the paper well before putting in the mixture. Put mold in a larger pan and pour in boiling water to more than two-thirds cover it. Bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center, about 60 minutes. Do not let the water boil during the cooking. Unmold and serve with a rich cream sauce.

Nutted Cream.

Two cups whipping cream, 1 tablespoon granulated gelatin, 1/4 cup powdered sugar, 1/4 cup cold water, 1/4 cup boiling water, 1 cup chopped nuts, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Soften gelatin in cold water. Add boiling water and stir over hot water until gelatin is dissolved. Whip cream until stiff and add sugar, vanilla and half the nuts. Stir in dissolved gelatin and continue stirring with the bowl containing the mixture placed in a pan of ice water, until the mixture begins to thicken. Turn into a mold and let stand on ice or in a very cold place until firm. Two or three hours will be necessary for the mixture to stiffen.

Palmyra Mutual Aid Society Meeting

A large number of members and several visitors of the Palmyra Mutual Aid society enjoyed the kind hospitality of Mrs. Richard Phillips of Nelson Wednesday, Nov. 5, in an all-day meeting. A bounteous dinner was served at noon and the regular business meeting was held in the afternoon. The next meeting will be held Nov. 19, with Mrs. Leroy Buhler of Palmyra as hostess.

Birthday Party for George Killmer

A delightful surprise party was held Thursday evening for George Killmer when thirty-five relatives from Dixon, Nachusa, Franklin Grove and Amboy gathered at the home of George Killmer and gave him a great surprise honoring his birthday.

The evening was spent in games and music. At 12 o'clock a delicious luncheon was served and enjoyed by all. All departed at a late hour wishing Mr. Killmer many happy returns of the day.

ENGAGEMENT WAS ANNOUNCED

FRIDAY EVENING—

At a pretty party Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank King, west Lincoln Highway, was made formal announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Helen King to Attorney Martin V. Peterman. Young maids and matrons were bidden to the home for an evening of bridge. The wedding announcement came with the

Reprint Article from Tri-County Press

The Telegraph is requested by W. R. C. members of Dixon, to reprint the following contribution printed in the Tri-County Press of Polo:

The question is often asked, "Does the Woman's Relief Corps do anything for the World War Veterans?" The following are some of the things they have done and are doing.

Illinois has a reserve fund at present of $1,653 to be used exclusively for the needs of the World War soldiers. The Corps of Illinois last year contributed $652.29 to this fund. They also sent fifty-nine Christmas boxes to Illinois boys in a Denver hospital, thinking that gifts from their home state would mean more to them than those received from strangers, and this will be continued each year so that any Illinois soldier who is an inmate of any hospital will receive a gift from his home state.

The money raised in our District Convention last year, $652.00, was used in buying radios for the Great Lakes Hospital and this year the money will be used in different hospitals. The past year the Corps made 703 door silencers, 329 tray cloths, 388 cretonne toilet bags, 239 clothing bags, 239 clothing bags, 575 wash cloths, all valued at $729.00. Money sent direct to hospitals, $79.75. The Polo Corps sent $5.00 in money and made clothes bags, cretonne bags, etc., to the value of $15.00.

At the convention of the 13th District held recently in Mendota the reports showed that all of the twenty-two Corps represented were doing work for the World War boys, and they consider this as much their work as doing it for the Grand Army men, for many of the Corps members are mothers of World War soldiers. Not in Illinois alone but wherever the Woman's Relief Corps is represented its members are doing the same kind of work.—Contributed.

Missionary Meeting M.E. Church Thursday

A very pleasant and profitable meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the M. E. church met on Thursday afternoon with Mrs. F. X. Newcomer with a very good attendance.

All united in singing as the opening number, "The Morning Light is Breaking." After which Rev. A. S. Moore conducted the devotions in a very helpful manner, his theme being prayer. After the business was taken care of Charles Swim favored with a beautiful vocal solo, entitled "I am a Pilgrim, I am a Stranger" and a hearty applause responded to an encore. Miss Frances Ackert accompanied on the piano.

Mrs. Deutsch gave the second chapter in the study book "Ming Kwong" in the same interesting manner. As the one before, Mrs. Rowe had charge of the mystery box which was very interesting. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. Lievan. A social hour followed as refreshments were served.

ENTERTAINED THURSDAY—

TEMPLE CLUB OF STERLING

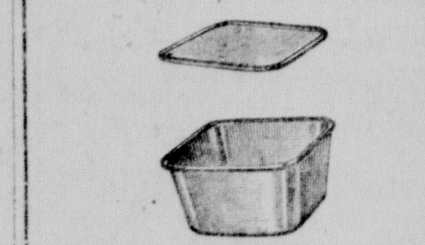

Eighty-five couples enjoyed the party given by the O. E. S. and the Temple club in the Masonic club rooms Thursday evening in Sterling. Guests were present from Ithaca, Ithaca, Millersburg and Dixon, and it proved to be one of the most enjoyable parties of the season. Refreshments were served at 11 o'clock and dancing was enjoyed until a late hour. This will be the last party until the annual Thanksgiving party.

Delightful Halloween Party Last Evening

Raymond Segner, son of Dr. and Mrs. K. B. Segner of Peoria avenue last evening delightfully entertained a company of young friends with a Halloween caps, confetti and favors made the party "different" as the young folks said and a happy evening was spent in games till 10 o'clock when refreshments were served by Mrs. Segner and then dancing was enjoyed.

Ideal Club Held Meeting on Wednesday

The Ideal club met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. L. W. Miller, 1519 Third street.

At the conclusion of the business session a most interesting program was given.

A paper on "The Floating Mansion of the President," was read by Mrs. Fred Wohnke.

Mrs. H. Beane read the Current Events.

Ermine Miller sang a group of songs, "Tommy Lad" and "The Birth of Morn." He was accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. L. W. Miller.

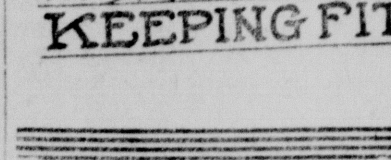

Miss Elwina Miller favored with two piano numbers, "Awakening of Spring" and "Spring Song."

The entire program for the afternoon was greatly enjoyed by all.

Mrs. Corbin and Mrs. Weiss were guests present at the meeting.

Tempting refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by her daughter, Miss Elwina Miller.

The next meeting of the club will be with Mrs. Fred Wohnke.

Hi-Y Club Program for Year is Now Completed

Thursday the Hi-Y Club held the largest and most enthusiastic meeting of the year at the Y. M. C. A. About forty sat down to the splendid chicken dinner provided by the mothers of the members. After the business and singing had been finished two new members who were voted in at a previous meeting were present and made their introductory speeches. These were William Rhodes and Neil Reagan. The full quota of the members is now reached and the club now has a waiting list of eight splendid young fellows who are waiting for membership in the club. Yesterday Dr. K. B. Segner addressed the club on "Medicine as a Profession." The members became so interested and enthusiastic that they voted to hold an evening meeting and to invite Dr. Segner to complete his address. The President, Don Raymond, announced that the program had been made up for the balance of this year as follows:

November 13th, Judge Harry Edwards; November 20th, Business and election of delegates to older boys' conference. Thanksgiving day and December 4th Dr. W. D. Craig, manager of the Gossard Company, subject "High Explosives, Part I"; December 18, W. D. Craig "High Explosives, Part II." December 30, Hi-Y Homecoming banquet.

"BOUNDARY LINE CONFERENCE" TO BE HELD IN CITY

Twenty-three Christian Churches to Be Represented Here.

Next Tuesday (Armistice Day), a "Boundary-line Conference" will be held in the Dixon Christian Church, with representatives present from twenty-three churches in the northwest part of the state. It is a meeting arranged by State Secretary H. H. Peters of Bloomington and several ministers around Dixon, to consider some special features of their work, and decide upon some plans for more definite care of weaker congregations and places where new churches may be established. The churches taking part in this conference are in the counties of Bureau, Carroll, Lee, Ogle, Stephenson, Winnebago and Whiteside.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Dixon church will serve dinner and supper to the delegates, at the church. The evening session will be merged with the revival now being conducted in the Dixon church, by W. B. Slater of Moline. The program follows:

ALWAYS ROOM AT THE TOP.

Young men who are wondering what line of work to follow will be interested in this. So will others who, already started, find the road to success rough and steep.

Each year American industry needs 40,000 new mining, electrical, hydraulic and other engineers. Yet our engineering colleges are graduating only 9000 a year. So claims the National Industrial Conference Board.

Colonel Barbour, editor of Mining and Metallurgy, challenges the board's claim. He says: "Nothing could be more absurd. Moreover, such a statement is tragically harmful to the current graduate and the young man who is about to decide on an engineering course of study. The engineering profession is already over-crowded."

Every business is over-crowded, for that matter, except branches of skilled labor where strict union rules hold down the number of apprentices.

As far as mere numbers are concerned, we have too many engineers, too many doctors, too many lawyers, too many newspapermen, too many architects, too many retailers—and so on, the list is virtually endless.

No matter what you decide to "take up," you find that a disheartening army of others has the same inclination. Even in aviation there is a waiting list.

No field exists in which success is easy. The fact that success is difficult proves the existence of sharp competition—over-crowding.

But over-crowding is mainly due to the presence of a multitude of incompetents. For every general, there are thousands of privates who haven't the makings of a general, who couldn't make good at the top no matter how often opportunity knocked at the door.

There are many electrical engineers, but only one Edison. Many surgeons, but only a few Criles and Mayos.

Plenty of room at the top, for the right man. If you are confident that you have the ability and stick-to-it-iveness to make good, young fellow, go ahead. Don't falter, don't weaken, don't be discouraged by "over-crowding."

A business, trade or profession may be over-crowded with numbers—but never with ability.

THE COLD FACTS.

Those people who had their interest aroused by the oil reserve testimony before the Walsh committee of the senate should closely follow the progress of the trial in Los Angeles of the Doheny oil case. Attorneys for the government and for Doheny and Fall are bringing to light the cold facts with relation to that transaction, which will be weighed by the court and appropriate penalties fixed if any are found guilty. The proceedings are being conducted according to law and not according to political expediency.

FEW AUTOS, FEW HARD ROADS.

Arkansas has about as few improved roads as any state in the Union. Yet it taxes the auto owner to a limit not exceeded by any other state. If the owner of a 35-horse-power car in Illinois were required to pay the Arkansas rate he would pay about $100 a year personal property tax on his car, about $4.40 a year tax on the engine, or 12½ cents per horsepower; then 55 cents per hundred pounds on weight of his car, which would be over $200 more. Here is a tax of $304.40, beside which he would pay 4 cents per gallon tax on the gasoline used, and a 10-cent tax on each gallon of lubricating oil used. He would be lucky to get off with a total of $400 tax per year on his machine. Arkansas would be able to build roads quicker if it reduced the tax and thus induced more people to buy automobiles. Illinois, much easier on the auto owners, collects license fees that are financing a $6,000,000 bond issue for hard roads and that are more than sufficient to finance a new bond issue of $1000,000,000.

PIRATE.

Captain Kidd wasn't a pirate. To the extreme contrary, he was an officer of the law, a chaser of pirates. This amazing claim is made by Homer H. Cooper, writing in American Mercury magazines. Consider the evidence on the other side. Which are we to believe? Maybe safety lies in accepting both—that Kidd was a Jekyll and Hyde, a pirate and policeman alternating.

History is filled with inaccuracies. That's human. Consider how rival politicians and factions make it impossible to learn the exact truth about the present, let alone the past.

OCEAN.

Japanese, 50 miles off their coast, find the deepest place so far located in any ocean. They found a depth of over six and a quarter miles without touching bottom. That seems very deep. Yet, compared with the earth, it is less than a faint scratch on a billiard ball.

Bryan says that Davis' opposition to the K. K. K. defeated him. Nonsense, Bill, it would have been more to the point to say that—if any one except Coolidge defeated him—it was Bob LaFollette. The democratic presidential ticket always get the "disgruntlers." This time LaFollette took most of 'em away from Davis. Well, LaFollette, chief disgruntler, was entitled to 'em.

Galen Tait, collector of internal revenue in Maryland, has decided to publish the names of those in search of income tax data as well as make public the data itself. This is an interesting development. The Marylanders will be as entertained in reading the names of the snoopers as of those who are snooped.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS
by Clive Roberts Barton

NO. 18—ON TOP OF A MOUNTAIN PEAK

When they looked out of the window the cloud was disappearing in the distance.

"Now then," said Daddy Gander when he and the Twins were seated safely on the magic dustpan, "take us to the House-That-Jack-Built."

Instantly the dust-pan started away again in the direction of the big cloud, where the house had settled, after floating up to the sky.

But to their surprise the dough no longer stuck out of the windows. Instead, delicious smells greeted their noses. Smells of bread baking.

"What can it be?" cried Daddy Gander. "It's the very queerest thing I ever heard of in all my life."

"The best way to find out," said Nick wisely, "is to go inside."

"Certainly! Certainly!" said Daddy Gander. "What a wise child you are!"

So they all stepped off the magic dust-pan onto the cute little front porch and tapped three times on the door.

And who should open it but the cook himself. The cook of the King of Yum Yum Land.

But he sniffed and sniffed and sniffed—the tears running down his cheeks like Tom Tom after he had stolen the pig and got a beating.

"Oh, goodness!" he said with another sniff. "Come in."

"Have you been skinning onions?" asked Nancy.

"No-o-o! It isn't onions," said the cook. "It's sorrow. I'm crying because I'm sad."

"I'm sad because I baked up some dough I found here in the house all ready for the oven, and it's so delicious, and I've nobody to serve it to! I can't go back to the palace because the king's gone and the peddler who took his place ordered my head chopped off."

"Why, yes you can," said Nancy.

"The king got his throne back. He put on his crown and his robe and went back to the castle just a little while ago."

"Oh, then, if you'll please excuse me, I'll be taking my baking and leave at once," said the cook. "And I don't even want this magic fork. All I want is my job back and someone who appreciates good food."

"But how are you going to get there?" asked Nick.

"Well," said the cook thoughtfully looking down at the earth, "I could jump."

"No such a thing!" said Daddy Gander. "Put your baking into a basket and I'll take you down myself. I know Mrs. John won't care about you using up her bread dough. She will only be too glad to get her house back."

So the cook did as the old gentleman said, and put the baking into a basket and they got onto the magic dust-pan and started toward the earth where they could see the king's castle far below.

Nancy and Nick started to look over the House-That-Jack-Built. They peered into all the corners and all the cupboards and opened and shut all the drawers and had a grand time waiting for Daddy Gander to come back to take them and Jack's house back to Mother Goose Land.

They never noticed that a wind had sprung up and started to blow the cloud very rapidly through the sky.

When the cloud was disappearing in the distance having left the House-That-Jack-Built sticking on a top of the highest mountain in the world, Yum Yum Land had disappeared altogether.

(To Be Continued)

New York—The first in New York to know that Christmas is coming are the bootleggers and the bootleggers' customers. Forty bootleggers were notified of increases of $5 to $10 a case. This means an increase of 50 cents a bottle to the ultimate consumer.

Scotch whisky brought in from Rum Row is now $45 a case wholesale. The retail bootlegger clears only $5 a case at that price.

There are several thousand places in New York City where liquor can be purchased, apparently with little or no danger or arrest.

The other day I saw a man pass through the subway turnstile at the Pennsylvania Station, carrying several bundles. One of the bundles dropped, but the man hurried on with no attempt to pick it up. A moment later liquid poured from the fallen bundle and I smelled rum.

The great stone steps of the Pennsylvania Station, built only a decade ago, are gullied and guttered by the passing of innumerable feet. Wooden steps laid over the stone steps of the postoffice, across the street, have stood four years' wear with hardly any evidence of the heavy traffic they have carried.

The Pennsylvania Station is more impressive in its size than the Grand Central, but the latter is more ornate. The Grand Central was built over the old structure without one train being delayed in arrival or departure.

See-sawing up and down Broadway, saw David Belasco, with skin pink and soft like a babe's and hardly a wrinkle on his face. Several years ago I was told he wouldn't live long.

Saw Ethel Barrymore, who seems to grow bigger and bigger every time I see her. Saw Florence Mills, negro actress who is starred in a musical revue. Less than four years ago she was an obscure member of "The Tennessee Ten," a vaudeville act. Since then she has toured Europe and has been recognized as an artist.

Saw an immense movie sign occupying city property in the middle of Times Square. A movie press agent couldn't get away with that in any Main Street town. Saw first tramp in months. He had several bundles tied around his belt under his coat.

Deere Homestead, Grand Detour, Being Improved

Grand Detour—A wedding dinner was served at the Will Winebrenner home Sunday in honor of their son Reubens marriage to Miss Bernice Ioder. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ioder, parents of the bride, of Ohio Station. The grandmother, Mrs. Tensler, Mr. and Mrs. W. Niece, Mr. and Mrs. S. Whitman, Mr. and Mrs. David Detor, Mrs. William Hensler and family all of Morrison, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hensler, Miss Mary Hensler of Clyde township, Mr. and Mrs. Ubah Niece of Sterling, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wolfe of Clinton, A. They received several useful presents in silver, linen, china, and cut glass. The dinner was prepared by Mrs. Noah Niece and sister. All spent a pleasant day and wished Mr. and Mrs. Winebrenner much happiness.

W. E. Sheffield and wife drove to Oregon Wednesday.

Mrs. James Fowler of Keokuk, Ia., visited Mrs. Hubert Shumacker last week.

Earl Mumma hauled wood for Dr. Pankhurst last week.

Mrs. J. W. Pankhurst spent last week at the Dr. Pankhurst home.

Miss Esther Foxley has been at home sick the past week.

Oliver Portner is putting culverts in near Millidgeville.

A meeting of the directors of the Grand Detour cemetery association was held at the Dr. Pankhurst home last week to make arrangements to raise money to build a new fence.

Several workmen from Moline are here working on the Desert house, putting in a fireplace and porch over the front door.

Dr. and Mrs. James Pankhurst, and Mrs. J. W. Pankhurst attended the funeral of the late Judge Reed at Oregon last week.

Miss Ida Schmidt has gone to Chicago for a few months' visit.

Arthur Sheffield and family of Dixon visited at the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Sheffield Sunday.

Leslie Pankhurst and wife, J. W. Pankhurst and Miss Mary Brackus of Temperance Hill spent Sunday at the Dr. Pankhurst home. Mrs. J. M. Pankhurst returned home with them.

Will eth shredded corn for Charles Sheffield Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Rosbrook returned home from their northern trip Friday.

Musical Training

When little Mollie Mann began to take singing lessons, the teacher had quite a talk with Mrs. Mann of Anytown on the subject.

"Of course it's nice to have children with good voices," said the teacher. "But did the health equation ever occur to you?"

Few people ever think of singing in terms of health. What with radios and phonographs to supply the songs it would seem that singing about the homes is becoming a scarce article. Yet it is a great value in teaching proper breathing and singing. Furthermore the organs of the chest are greatly benefited.

How to attain the proper posture and how properly to breathe are questions best answered by a professional trainer. In many schools singing exercises are daily events and this should not only be encouraged but included in the home program.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Whoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance; but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath.— Matt. 13:12.

Abundance consists not alone in material possession, but in an un-covetous spirit.—Selden.

Mistaking a corncob pipe, which a pedestrian pointed at him, for a revolver, a man being chased by police in Middletown, Conn., halted and was held until he could be taken into custody.

The Chinese peanut crop, which now exceeds the American production had its beginning in four quarts of American peanuts taken to China 35 years ago by a missionary.

New types of fish can be produced by changing the temperature of the water in which they live, experiment has shown.

Ten years ago there were more telephones in the United States than there are today in all foreign countries combined.

Decided Advantage in Buying Diamonds

Extreme care that we give to the selection of each stone; the truthful information we give you about size, cutting, color and degree of perfection; the number of gems we carry, and the trustworthy values we offer, make buying a diamond here a transaction of great and lasting satisfaction.

You can not buy a diamond of inferior grade in our store. You can not buy quality equal to the diamonds we have for less money anywhere.

Mountings are solid gold or platinum. In the newest designs, many unduplicated. Material and craftsmanship are the best.

TREIN'S JEWELRY STORE

Corner First and Hennepin Ave.

The Chain Store

—where the crowd gathers

THE most surprising variety of merchandise assembled for convenient selection at a small cost is the magnet which draws the people to the Chain Store. The customer enters to spend twenty cents and departs having spent a dollar.

That the goods displayed are attractive and dependable is proven by the volume of business being done by these concerns. The Chain Store is the most potent factor as a leveller of retail prices; its influence for the public's benefit is unquestioned.

As a business enterprise, the Chain Store has proved amazingly successful. Fortunes have been accumulated through expansion and the "plowing in" of profits into the business.

We are offering the 7% Preferred Stock of the United States Corporation now operating over 1,000 grocery and markets. The security has a conversion privilege which we believe will prove profitable.

Details regarding the issue and an interesting booklet on Chain Store operations mailed upon request.

ARMISTICE DAY

TUESDAY, NOV. 11th

1918 - 1924

"CEASE FIRING!" Six years ago next Tuesday at eleven o'clock, those momentous words resounded over the almost unending battlefronts of that day. Almost instantly, the battlefields reverberated the thundering hurrahs of the fighting men who had conquered in their struggle to preserve the peace of the Universe.

The four winds caught the unfettered spirit of rejoicing and carried it to the corners of the earth. And the whole world joined in a tumultuous expression of joy and gratitude for deliverance from the War's Caldron of Sorrow. The Day was affame with the thrill of Victory—the Victory of Peace!

On this Armistice Day of 1924, let us—Citizens of Dixon—commemorate that glorious Day by observing next Tuesday in a fitting manner. Let us display the Flag at our homes and places of business—in honor of those valiant living and dead who fought for the honor of their Country and for the protection of our homes and loved ones.

And let us pay added respect to those sleeping boys who so unselfishly made the Supreme Sacrifice—by giving them one minute of reverent silence at eleven o'clock. Let us show the world that—

EFFECT SUN'S ECLIPSE TO BE STUDIED IN JAN.

Experts Plan Exhaustive Tests on Next January 24.

Springfield, Nov. 8.—Effects of an eclipse of the sun on radio signals and transmission will be observed by radio amateurs in all parts of Illinois, when the sun completely hides its face to certain sections of northern and eastern United States the morning of January 24, 1925. While the eclipse will hardly be visible to anyone in this state, some of the most interesting effects on radio are expected here.

Scientific publications are printing articles advising radio operators that they will have an opportunity that day to do real service for science, especially radio science. While astronomers in the direct path of the eclipse will train their telescopes on the sun to attempt another test of the Einstein theory, and discover the mystery of the sun's corona, radio operators will listen for intensified radio signals.

Results of radio observations, it is hoped, will serve to determine whether the shadow path of the eclipse operated as a reflecting mirror to send back radio waves toward the point of origin, or whether it bends them during the eclipse, not only light from the sun out from a portion of this country, but the stream of electrons supposed to be flying at all times toward the earth, will be altered.

The eclipse will be total for the space of two minutes. It will begin about sunrise and end about 10:30 a. m. The path of the total eclipse will make it visible in northern Michigan, northern Wisconsin, the northern part of New York and northeastern Pennsylvania.

What Your American Red Cross Does

Carries on Work of Vital Importance to American People

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS, since the war, has been offered boundless opportunities for service. With thousands of disabled ex-service men still in hospitals, with disasters occurring almost weekly, with hundreds of thousands dying yearly through preventable disease, through accident, through lack of knowledge of the simplest rules of hygiene and health, the need is greater than ever before.

The Red Cross meets this need through a group of unified services, to carry on which it is chartered by Congress. This peace-time work is less spectacular than the war work. Much of it, the public health work in particular, is less interesting generally, except to those who directly benefit by it. For it is no easy matter to interest a healthy person in health. Yet it is a work that is of vital importance to the American

Nutrition Service
The Nutrition Service of the Red Cross meets the modern demand for a proper understanding of food values and their relation to community health. During the year 2,700 dietitians have been enrolled to help carry on the nutrition program.

The outstanding accomplishment of the Nutrition Service this year has been the further development and improvement of methods, material and organization necessary for establishing and carrying on nutrition programs under the itinerant worker. This worker is with each Red Cross Chapter for a three or four-month period during which time she organizes a Nutrition committee of chapter men and women, conducts classes employees alone. Last year 14,500 persons completed the course, and 135,000 were reached with demonstrations by the First Aid Car.

Red Cross experience shows that the accident rate among men in industry who have had First Aid instruction is 75 per cent less than among the uninstructed. Red Cross Chapters throughout the country are prepared to assist groups of people anywhere in taking the course.

An organization devoted to life-saving at the various waterfronts and resorts was inaugurated in 1914. This is the American Red Cross Life Saving Corps, which has trained more than 49,000 men, women and youths to rescue and revive the drowning. These volunteers are instructed and organized into corps by the expert life-savers on the Red Cross staff.

The Chapters

During the year volunteer workers have produced 150,000 garments, 1,000,000 surgical dressings and 87,000 pages of Braille. They have made 15,000 motor calls and fed 22,000 persons in canteen service. In 500 communities the Red Cross Chapter is the only family welfare agency.

Junior Red Cross

Organized in 1917 the American Junior Red Cross has today 5,452, 745 children enrolled in public, private and parochial schools. Born as a war movement to provide suitable channels of American Red Cross relief work for American children, it is now in close touch with the children of forty other countries, creating bonds of mutual friendship and understanding.

When the Armistice was signed the Red Cross mustered these children into an army of peace, whose ideal should be one of service to others. Today juniors are identified with their seniors in health class instruction, in disaster relief work, in salvage and other service.

The juniors pay no membership fee, but every child must have earned the right to wear the Junior people. America could no more do without the Red Cross in peace than it could have done without it in war.

With Service and Ex-Service Men

Service to the disabled veterans of the World War continues as the first obligation of the Red Cross. Since the Armistice it has expended $50,000,000 for services to these men and to men of the Army and Navy. It is now assisting more than 100,000 disabled veterans and their families each month. To 180,000 soldiers, sailors and marines on active duty it is giving the same help it gave during the war. There are today more than twenty-five hundred Red Cross Chapters, in all parts of the country, that are carrying on soldier work.

With the Army and Navy, the Red Cross has continued to act as a medium of communication between the enlisted man and his family at home. Field Directors are maintained at all stations, camps, and hospitals, supplementing the welfare of the men, providing entertainment and recreation for convalescents, and keeping the families advised of their condition. Occupational therapy has been continued at nine Naval hospitals.

The Nursing Service

At the request of the Government the Red Cross holds the reserve out of which are recruited the Army and Navy Nursing Corps, both in time of war and in some sudden emergency of peace. During the war it assembled, equipped and assigned 19,877 nurses to active service with our Armies and Navy. Today there are 41,000 qualified nurses enrolled in this reserve.

Disaster Relief

The far-reaching organization of the Red Cross, with its thousands of chapters and branches, forming a close network over the entire country, is well fitted to bring prompt aid when the lightning stroke of disaster flashes down upon a peaceful community, killing hundreds, rendering thousands homeless and destitute. Into such a scene of despair and hopelessness the Red Cross brings food and clothing, medicine, tents for shelter, blankets and all kinds of supplies. Equipped with trained workers, with stores of relief supplies located at strategic points throughout the country, the resources of the entire organization can be brought to bear within a few hours upon the most remote hamlet.

Nor do the workers go until the work is finished. In the tornado which devastated Lorain, Ohio, last June, more than 7,000 persons were left homeless. The Red Cross is still working for the rehabilitation of these people.

During the first half of 1924 the Red Cross gave assistance in more disasters than during any similar period in its history. This year the flood in China brought an immediate response from the Red Cross treasury. Disaster Relief has been and must continue to be one of the most important of Red Cross activities.

Public Health Nursing

The Red Cross has appointed public health nurses in many communities which desired such service.

The public health nurse is the guardian of the health of all those in her neighborhood. She inspects the school children for physical defects, organizes classes in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick, in Food Selection and First Aid, so that the women and girls may be better fitted to maintain the health of their families, and to care for members of their households in time of minor illnesses. She tells expectant mothers how to take care of themselves, so that the mortality from childbirth may be reduced. Today almost a thousand Red Cross nurses in their picturesque uniforms and small cars are carrying the chance to live, the message of health, and the good will of the Red Cross to people of mining communities, bleak and wind-swept mountain plateaus, and lonely rural settlements throughout the United States and her possessions.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick

The course in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick which the Red Cross is offering to women and girls throughout the country has two aims. The first is to teach the elementary principles of nursing, so that in war or pestilence, when there is a shortage of professional nurses, there may be a sufficient supply of volunteers available. The second is to assist in checking mortality by the intelligent care of babies and children, and to further adult health and efficiency by for children, mothers and teachers, leads in the establishment of hot lunches for rural schools and gives individual instruction in the home. The number of itinerant workers was more than doubled this year.

First Aid and Life Saving

During the nineteen months we were at war approximately 126,000 persons were killed in America by accidents—almost three times the number of Americans button, "I Serve," by one or more of three ways—performance of a significant service for the school, the community or the local Red Cross Chapter; participation in school enterprises by which a Junior Red Cross Service Fund is raised; contribution to the Junior Red Cross Service Fund from money earned by personal service or personal sacrifice.

Carrying out its slogan of "Happy childhood the world over," the American Junior Red Cross has become acquainted, through a system of international school correspondence, with the children of other nations.

Foreign Operations

While the Red Cross work is largely carried on at home, it has in recent years rendered important assistance during times of disaster in the following countries: France, Belgium, Italy, Austria, Germany, Hungary, Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Roumania, Bulgaria, Albania, Greece, Turkey, Finland, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Russia, Siberia, Japan, China, Chile, Ecuador, Colombia and Costa Rica.

The position of the Red Cross among American institutions is unique in that, while certain duties have been placed upon it by Congress, it is at the same time a voluntary organization. Its membership is a voluntary membership; its work is carried on by voluntary contributions and membership dues. The amount of work that it can accomplish, therefore, is directly measured by the amount of support which the American people give it.

During the Eighth Annual Roll Call, from November 11th to 27th, the Red Cross offers the people an opportunity to reaffirm their faith in the ideal of service for which it stands—to pay their membership dues and become a part of the organization for the coming year. If you—one person in millions—fail to join, it may seem a little thing. But the Red Cross is your Red Cross—you are a part of it; and if you fail to join, by just so much the Red Cross falls of its high purpose.

The Red Cross has kept faith with you. Join during the Roll Call, and keep faith with the Red Cross.

A Romance of the Spanish Main CAPTAIN BLOOD By RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini.
"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitaphone picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS.

Wolverstone looked down sardonically upon Lord Julian. "So that you're like to be in yet another sea-fight afore we're done with ships, my lord."

"That's a point we were just arguing," said Blood. "For I hold that we're in no case to fight against such odds."

"The odds, be damned!" Wolverstone thrust out his heavy jaw. "We're used to odds. The odds was heavier at Maracaybo; yet we won out, and took three ships. They was heavier yesterday when we engaged Don Miguel."

"Aye—but those were Spaniards."

"And what better are these?—Are ye afraid of a lubberly Barbados planter? Whatever ails you, Peter? I've never known ye scared afore."

A gun boomed out behind them. "That'll be the signal to lie to," said Blood, in the same listless voice; and he fetched a sigh.

Wolverstone squared himself before his captain.

"I'll see Colonel Bishop in hell or ever I lie to for him."

"Oh, but—by your leave," his lordship intervened, "surely there is nothing to be apprehended from Colonel Bishop. Considering the service you have rendered to his niece and to me... I assure you that my word counts for something in England."

"Oh, aye—in England. But this ain't England, damme," Wolverstone laughed.

Came the roar of a second gun, and a round shot splashed the water less than half a cable's length astern. Blood leaned over the rail to speak to the fair young man immediately below him by the helmsman at the wheel.

"Bid them take in sail, Jeremy," he said quietly. "We lie to." But Wolverstone interposed again.

"Hold there a moment, Jeremy!" he roared. "Wait!" Captain and loyal follower faced, their glances met, sullen defiance braving dull anger, surprise and pain.

"There is no question," said Blood, "of surrender for any man aboard save only myself. If Bishop can report to England that I am taken and hanged, he will magnify himself; and at the same time gratify his personal rancor against me. I'll send him a message offering to surrender aboard his ship, taking Miss Bishop and Lord Julian with me, but only on condition that the Arabella is allowed to proceed unharmed. It's a bargain that he'll accept, if I know him at all."

"Ye're surely daft even to think of it, Peter!"

"Not so daft as you when you talk of fighting that," "Before we've run another half mile we shall be within range."

Wolverstone swore elaborately, then suddenly checked. Out of the tail of his single eye he had espied a trim figure in gray silk that was ascending the companion. So engrossed had they been that they had not seen Miss Bishop come from the door of the passage leading to the cabin. And there was something else that those three men on the poop, and Pitt immediately below them, had failed to observe. Some moments ago Ogilvie followed by the main body of his gun-deck crew, had emerged from the booby hatch, to fall into muttering, angrily vehement talk with those who, abandoning the gun-tackles upon which they were laboring, had come to crowd about him.

Even now Blood had no eyes for that. He turned to look at Miss Bishop, wondering a little, after the manner in which yesterday she had avoided him, that she should venture upon the quarter-deck. Her presence at this moment, and considering the nature of his altercation with Wolverstone, was embarrassing. Captain Blood bowed his head and bowed silently in a greeting which she returned composedly and formally.

"What is happening, Lord Julian?" she enquired.

As if to answer her a third gun spoke from the ship.

"They are ships of the Jamaica fleet," his lordship answered her.

Before more could be added, their attention was drawn at last to Ogilvie, who came bounding up the broad ladder, and to the men bounding aft in his wake. Blood, contented him.

"What's this?" the Captain demanded sharply. "Your station is on the gun-deck. Why have you left it?"

"Captain," Ogilvie said, and as he spoke he pointed to the pursuing ships, "Colonel Bishop holds us. We're in no case either to run or fight."

"Ogilvie," said he, in a voice cold and sharp as steel, "your station is on the gun-deck. You'll return to it at once, and take your crew with you or else."

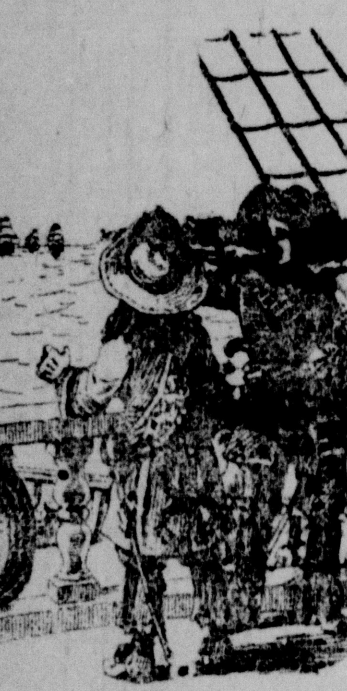

"Threats will not serve, Captain," Captain Blood's hand closed over the butt of one of the pistols slung before him.

"Again ye misapprehend me," cried Lord Julian, between concern and indignation. "That is not intended. Your followers will be included in your commission."

"And ye think they'll go with me to hunt their brethren—the Brethren of the Coast? D'ye think I could take a commission of King James's? I tell you I wouldn't be selling my hands with it—thief and pirate's hands though they be. Thief and pirate is what you heard Miss Bishop call me today—a thing of scorn, an outcast. And who made me that? Who made me thief?"

"I'll see Colonel Bishop in Hell or ever I lie to for him."

and pirate? D'ye dream, man, what it is to be a slave? But there! I grow hot for nothing at all. I explain myself, I think, and God knows, it is not my custom, I am grateful to you, Lord Julian, for your kindly intentions. I am so, but ye'll understand, perhaps. Ye look as if ye might."

Lord Julian stood a moment, watching the tall figure as it moved away towards the taffrail. Then letting his arms fall helplessly to his sides in dejection, he departed.

CHAPTER XVIII

THE SERVICE OF KING JAMES

Miss Arabella Bishop was aroused very early on the following morning by the brazen voice of a huckle and the insistent clanging of a bell in the ship's belfry. In his cabin Lord Julian was already afoot and hurriedly dressing. About him, at the waist, where all last night had been so peaceful, there was a frenziedly active bustle of some three-score men. By the rail, immediately above and behind Lord Julian, stood Captain Blood in altercation with a one-eyed giant, whose head was swathed in a red cotton kerchief, whose blue shirt hung open at the waist. As his lordship, moving forward, revealed himself, their voices ceased, and Blood turned to greet him.

"Good morning to you," he said, and added: "I've blundered badly, so I have. I should have known better than to come so close to Jamaica by night. But I was in haste to and you. Come up here. I have something to show you."

Wondering, Lord Julian mounted the companion as he was bidden, standing beside Captain Blood, he looked astern, following the indication of the Captain's hand, and cried in amazement. There, not more than three miles away, was land—an uneven wall of vivid green that filled the western horizon. And a couple of miles this side of it, bearing after them, came speeding three great white ships.

BOWIE, CHIEF OF THE UNITED STATES GEODETIC SURVEY, WHO WITH OTHER AMERICAN SCIENTISTS, DISAGREES WITH THE EUROPEAN THEORY.

BY YARRY BOARDMAN
NEA Service Writer

Washington—American and European scientists are going to a lot of trouble and expense trying to decide a question in which they've always disagreed.

That is whether North and South America actually are slipping over the surface of the earth—sliding farther and farther away from Europe and Africa as time goes on.

They are, the Europeans say. And so are Australia and Greenland and hundreds of less important little lands.

They are not, the Americans contend.

So to settle the argument the scientists are getting together and conducting one of the greatest surveys ever made.

Dr. William M. Bowie, chief of the United States Geodetic Survey, is in Madrid now attending an international scientific conference that is making the final arrangements.

Radio To Be Used

The survey is expected to start within a month.

Major C. Z. Hodgson, acting geodetic survey chief during Bowie's absence, believes the tests will be, for the first time in history, virtually 100 per cent accurate.

That is because they will be conducted by radio.

"The system," he explains, "is to work from some point of which we know the exact longitude—that is, the exact location in relation to the stars. From this point time signals are flashed to other points. By checking up these signals with the stars at the receiving points, exact calculations can be made."

"Until now we have been forced to signal by cable and wire. This has been a barrier in the way of perfect accuracy because of the time it takes to transmit such signals. Many points, too, cannot be reached by wire."

"Now, by using radio, these drawbacks can be overcome. The tests will encircle the entire globe."

Second Survey to Follow

In a few days a second survey will be made, and the results checked. In this way it can be determined whether the continents are changing their relative positions, as the Europeans believe."

The theory of the shifting continents is known as the "displacement theory," or the "Wegener hypothesis." Professor Arthur Wegener, director of the German Oceanographical Survey, is its leading exponent.

The theory in brief is: Continents are made of comparatively light material, such as gneiss and granite.

Underneath them is a layer of heavier material, such as basalt, on which they float like an ice floe on water.

This underlying layer also forms the ocean bottoms.

Thousands of years ago in the carboniferous period, to be exact—the continents were all together in a single mass. Then this mass separated. Sections of it drifted away toward the west and toward the equator.

The Atlantic Ocean rushed in to fill the rift between Europe and Africa on one side and the two Americas on the other. Mountain ranges—like the Andes and Rockies—were formed when the drifting masses met resistance and buckled up.

Groups of islands were dropped off and left behind.

Just what force caused this movement of masses is not definitely known. Scientists think there is a normal driving force away from the poles, and this may have had something to do with it.

Bowie Says It's False

Wegener holds, that at the time of the separation, there may have been other and greater forces, influenced by a movement of the poles.

Supporting this theory Wegener points out that if the continents could be shoved together again their coast lines would fit, like the edges of a torn piece of paper. This is particularly true of the South American and African coast lines.

He also points to the similar prehistoric ice movements in North America and northern Europe, to related plant and animal life in different parts of the world, to the corresponding ages, locations, and to the fact that antartic ice, driven by a movement of the poles, could not have once covered South America as far north as Brazil had South America then occupied its present position.

What's more, says Wegener, the continents still are moving. He contends astronomical observations have shown Greenland to be moving west at the rate of 15 meters a year.

Movement of the American continent has not yet been measured, but Wegener is sure it is gradually shifting westward, and his European colleagues back him up in this view.

But Bowie insists the "displacement theory" is false and he intends to prove it.

ROCKFORD YOUTH WINS CHANCE TO MEET LEONARD

Sammy Mandell Defeats Bernstein in Fast Bout.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

New York, Nov. 8.—One lightweight worthy of testing the prowess of Benny Leonard has been revealed in Sammy Mandell, Rockford, Ill., who showed championship class last night in winning the decision over Jack Bernstein of Yonkers, N. Y., after 12 rounds of spectacular fighting.

Mandell met Bernstein at his own rugged style and added enough of his unusual speed to earn the decision by a whirlwind rally in the last two frames. The Rockford boy, if the program announced by Tex Rickard is adhered to, will be matched with the winner of the Vicentini-Terris battle and the ultimate victor will then be in line for a title tilt with Leonard.

The efforts of the boxing commission to stimulate activity in the featherweight class in which Johnny Dundee vacated a title, reached the point yesterday of naming pairings in the first round of a tournament, the winner of which will be named champion. Three bouts will be held at Madison Square Garden Nov. 21, the semi-final will be held three weeks later, and the championship battle about three weeks after that. Kid Kaplan of Meriden, Conn., will meet Bobby Garcia of Camp Holabird, Md. In the first bout. The second will be between Danny Kramer of Philadelphia and Mike Dundee of Salt Lake and the third will bring together Jose Lombardo of Panama and Lew Paluso of Sta. Lake City. Each will be ten rounds.

REHABILITATION DISABLED VETERANS PLAN OF LE

Care of Orphans Part of Program Organization.

Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 7.—Faction of the disabled veterans World War and care of the of the men who died in service a result of disabilities incurred war will be the two leading agencies on the American Legion program 1925, according to word received today by Department Commander Howard P. Savage from Commander James A. Drain.

Other matters particularly canism, passage of the universal vice act and work towards permanent peace, will come in for a deal of attention during the year. It was learned that the war will be the two leading agencies on the American Legion program 1925, according to word received today by Department Commander Howard P. Savage from Commander James A. Drain.

Better and more efficient service the part of the United States Bureau is sought. The Legion declared in its 1924 national Convention that it would be satisfied with nothing less than "super-service" the disabled. It called upon the government authorities to take every step necessary to improve the service rendered. It recommended that efficient personnel be dismissed.

During the past year the Legion secured the passage of the Reed-Johnson bill which carried benefits 100,000 veterans and their dependents and codified and liberalized the law affecting the disabled. This has been called the greatest piece of constructive legislation for the disabled since the creation of the Veterans' Bureau which the Legion was instrumental securing. Appropriations totaling $372,433,962.00 for disabled were obtained from congress through the influence of the Legion.

Second to rehabilitation in the Legion program, according to the message received by Commander Savage, is the care of the war orphans. National Headquarters of the Legion in forms Mr. Savage that there are to day 5000 of these orphans who are demanding attention. Experts have estimated that the number will have increased in ten years to 35,000.

Mr. Savage announces that there are three phases to the Legion program for caring for these children. Where it is possible, the mother is assisted to maintain the home and keep the family together. Where this cannot be done, foster homes are found in suitable surroundings. The third phase is the Legion Children's Bilets. Some thirty children are being cared for at Billet No. 1 at Otter Lake, Mich. A second Billet is being constructed at Independence, Kan. Serious consideration is being given now to a study of the problem of financing this work. In this state, over 100 war orphans are being cared for at the Soldiers' Orphans' Home at Normal, Ill., and Commander Savage states that no effort will be spared to make this Home second to none in the United States. The American Legion has on its program for this Home appropriations of nearly one million dollars for the legislature to pass upon at the next session and Department officials today stated that every penny of this was for necessary improvements.

"RED" GOES INTO DAY'S GAME MINUS TOOTH LOST FRIDAY

Leadership in Western Conference Depends on Today's Game.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Leadership in the Western Conference title race was the gauge of battle today as Chicago took the field against Illinois in the mid-west main football attraction.

A victory for Illinois meant virtually the winning of the Big Ten crown for its forthcoming opponents, Minnesota has been twice defeated and Ohio State twice tied. For Chicago, undefeated but once tied, a victory meant at least a tie for circuit honors.

Chicago had the opportunity to match its well groomed defense against the hitherto unbeaten point scoring rushes of Harold "Red" Grange, the Illinois human projectile. Grange, the Illinois human projectile, to stop whom has become the most ardent desire of Western Conference teams.

Grange Loses a Tooth

Grange went into the game lacking a front tooth, broken in yesterday's last practice scrimmage. It will be replaced after his return to Urbana.

The injury to the redoubtable backfield star was only one of several among Zuppke's proteges. Quarterback H. Hall had an injured ankle, McIlwain a broken hand and Captain Rokusek, a leading factor in interference for Grange, has a lame ankle. Otherwise the Illini were in perfect condition and in the same mental state with which they met and defeated Michigan.

Whether the Maroon Line could outplay the Illini forwards was one of the big questions involved. Coach Stagg's line was drilled to stop Grange before he crossed the scrimmage line. Upon Captain Gowdy and Henderson, tackles, Pokras and Pondelik, guards, and Goodman, center, depended how short the Illini gains would be.

Seconding them was an experienced backfield composed of Harry Thomas, Kerwin, McCarthy and Abbott.

Determination vs. Machine

It was a case of Chicago's fight and determination against the machine-like play of Illinois, combined with the known ability of its players.

Upwards of 33,000 tickets were sold for the game weeks ago and seats were at a premium.

Weather conditions promised to be favorable.

The probable lineup:

ILLINOIS POSITION: CHICAGO
Rokusek ls Barto
Brown lt Henderson
Sumner lg Pondelik
Subers rg Goodman
Miller rt Pokras
R. Hall rk Gowdy
Kassel lb Barnes
H. Hall qb Abbott
Grange gr Kerwin
McIlwain lb Thomas
Britton fb McCarthy

Although two other games—Northwestern at Michigan and Indiana at Ohio State—were on the conference grid card, interest was diverted from them to the clash between Notre Dame and Wisconsin at Madison.

Notre Dame hoped for a victory by way of some of the spectacular playmaking that brought wins over the Army, Princeton and Georgia Tech, and was anxious to journey to Southern California on New Year's with an unsullied record.

Badgers in Good Shape

The Badgers had an unknown bag of tricks from which to draw. They were in better condition than at any time during the season.

No championship hopes hung in the balance as Northwestern came to grips with Michigan at Ann Arbor. Michigan was favored to win because Coach Stagg decided to start Captain Herb Steger at his usual post. The Purple lacked its two regular ends and one of its tackles but was full of fighting. Indiana and Ohio State renewed relations at Columbus for the first time since 1917.

The non-conference games of Iowa with Butler at Iowa City, Minnesota with Ames at Minneapolis and Purdue with DePaul at Lafayette, involved questions of individual supremacy.

GAMES IN THE EAST

New York, Nov. 8.—(By The Associated Press)—The calm before the final storm of action in the football season will come today on eastern gridirons where Princeton and Harvard and Lafayette and Rutgers meet in the two more important contests of a sparse program.

The Tiger-Cricket clash at Cambridge will inaugurate the "Big Three" series. Rutgers is figured to lose to Lafayette.

Lehigh will be tested by Holy Cross. Penn State and Carnegie Tech. will connect at State College.

Marquette will clash with Boston College.

Harvard will enter the game a strong favorite over Princeton whose hopes for victory will be placed almost entirely upon the past performances of Tiger teams which have played their best games of the season against Harvard.

Lafayette, with a squad undoubtedly one of the most powerful in the east, will be faced with the task of outscoring a smart trio of Rutgers backs, including Benkert, leading scorer of the east, Hazel, one of the best kickers of the year, and Terrill, an elusive runner in the open field.

Yale will use substitutes against Maryland in order to rest up for the Princeton and Harvard games on the next two Saturdays. Pennsylvania will meet Georgetown for the first time in 30 years.

Syracuse, unbeaten, will clash with West Virginia Wesleyan.

Army will be called upon to play serious football to win from the University of Florida. Navy will meet Vermont. Brown plays the Haskell Indians. Dartmouth takes on Boston University. Cornell faces Susquehanna and Columbia meets a local rival in New York University.

Colgate and West Virginia will provide an interesting tussle in the Pittsburgh district.

Williams and Wesleyan will meet in the first battle of the "Little Three" series.

Fourteen Two-Year-Olds Face Barrier This P. M.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Louisville, Ky., Nov. 8.—Fourteen two-year-olds are carded to face the barrier in the Golden Rod Handicap at Churchill Downs today in the feature race at the closing day of the fall meeting. The race is over a distance of seven furlongs and has an added value of $5000.

Despite top weight of 127 pounds, Captain Hal apparently has been installed favorite. Jockey Heupel will pilot the Kaiser colt, which was 14th position from the post.

Rock Falls High to Play Dixon Week From Today

The Sterling Gazette of Friday said:

The Rock Falls high school takes a journey to Polo Saturday for a game with the Polo high school. Coach Harrison will use practically all of the second and third string men in this contest, using the first string men only enough to give them a little workout. Rock Falls will get the supreme test a week from Saturday, when Dixon comes to Rock Falls. Thus far the Rock Falls boys have been able to tear through all of their opponents, including the Rochelle team, but the fans are afraid that they are getting over confident and that Dixon will tear them all to pieces.

When you install a COLONIAL furnace, you get a full dollar's worth of warmth and comfort from every dollar you spend.

The COLONIAL Better Heating Principle makes it possible to liberate more heat from the fuel. Fully 40% more heat is provided by the COLONIAL. Think of the fuel saving!

With the COLONIAL'S dome-shaped heat chamber, the flame and heated gas rise and strike directly against the entire surface. Not merely the top as in ordinary furnaces.

Other exclusive COLONIAL features are important. Improved Radiator traps the heat that ordinarily escapes with the smoke and directs it into the heat pipes, cutting fuel bills still more.

Air Blast Fire Pot introduces air through vents in the side walls, which mixes with the gases and produces more intense heat.

Separate shaking bars in the Grate aid in removing ashes and clinkers without disturbing the live coals.

Double Feed Doors admit large pieces of fuel which burn slower than smaller pieces.

We are anxious to give you further facts about the COLONIAL—one furnace that's back to its 1917 price.
